As of 2/28/25, the name of the Columbia Semiconductor and Technology ETF changed to Columbia Select Technology ETF, and the benchmark changed from the PHLX Semiconductor Sector Index to the S&P Global 1200 Information Technology Index.
Performance of the fund prior to 2/28/25 reflects a different investment strategy.

The fund's expense ratio is from the most recent prospectus. Net expense ratio reflects a contractual fee waiver/expense reimbursement through 2/28/2026, unless sooner terminated at the sole discretion of the fund's board.

Performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold or redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost. Current performance data may be higher or lower than actual data quoted. For the most current month-end performance data, please call 800.426.3750.

Total Returns (Net Asset Value) are calculated using the daily 4:00 pm ET net asset value (NAV). Through July 31, 2020, Market Price returns are based on the midpoint of the bid/ask spread for fund shares at market close (typically 4:00 pm ET). Beginning with August 31, 2020 month-end performance, Market Price returns are based on closing prices reported by the fund's primary listing exchange (typically 4:00 pm ET close). Performance results shown reflect expense reimbursements (if any), without which the results would have been lower. Shares may trade at a premium or discount to the NAV. Returns over one year are annualized. ETF shares are bought and sold at market price (not NAV) and are not individually redeemed from the fund. Investors buy and sell shares on a secondary market. Only market or "authorized participants" may trade directly with the Fund(s), typically in blocks of 50,000 shares.

General ETF Risk – There are risks involved with investing in ETFs, including the loss of the principal amount that you invest. ETF shares are bought and sold throughout the trading day at their market price, not their NAV, on the exchange on which they are listed. ETF shares may trade in the market at a premium or discount to their NAV. A financial intermediary (such as a broker) may charge a commission to execute a transaction in ETF shares, and an investor also may incur the cost of the spread between the price at which a dealer will buy ETF shares and the somewhat higher price at which a dealer will sell ETF shares. ETF shares are not individually redeemable from an ETF. Only market makers or Authorized Participants may trade directly with an ETF, typically in large blocks of shares, as disclosed in each Fund's prospectus.

Investment risks – Market risk may affect a single issuer, economic sector or industry, or the market as a whole. Active trading may result in added expenses, lower return and increased tax liability. The Fund concentrates its investments in technology and technology-related companies. The products of technology companies may be subject to severe competition and rapid obsolescence, and their stocks may be subject to greater price fluctuations. Foreign investments subject the fund to risks, including political, economic, market, social and others within a particular country, as well as to currency instabilities and less stringent financial and accounting standards generally applicable to U.S. issuers. As a non-diversified fund, holding fewer investments could have a greater effect on Fund performance. Investment in larger companies may involve certain risks associated with their larger size and may be less able to respond quickly to new competitive challenges than smaller competitors. Investments in small- and mid-cap companies often involve greater risks that investments in larger companies and may have less predictable earning and be less liquid than the securities of larger cap companies. Growth securities, at times, may not perform as well as value securities or the stock market in general and may be out of favor with investors. Although Fund shares are listed on an exchange, there can be no assurance that an active, liquid or otherwise orderly trading market for shares will be established or maintained.

Market Capitalization is the total dollar value of all outstanding shares, calculated by multiplying shares times current market price. Price/Book Ratio is a stock's price divided by its book value, and may help determine if it is valued fairly. P/E Ratio (Trailing) is a stock's price divided by after-tax earnings over a trailing 12-month period, which serves as an indicator of value based on earnings. Total Constituent Daily Traded Value is the sum of the six-month average daily traded value (in USD) of a fund's individual holdings.
